

Sales Consultant London

Company: Transaction Focus

Location: London & Greater London

Full Time / Temporary

Do you love fashion and retail? Do you want to help an innovative retail tech start-up become a World leader? Then come and be part of something special. We are interested in vibrant, creative and fun self-employed sales supremo's and brand ambassadors.

You'll experience 5 days of incredible brand and sales training and this is what you'll be doing for us:

As part of our London team of self-employed professionals you'll meet and chat to independent retailers about our exciting new concept, explaining the benefits and gaining their commitment.

In return?

We can offer you an hourly rate of £18.00 for an 8-hour day (Monday to Friday) plus the opportunity to achieve a bonus of between £15-£20 per sign-up for achieving your targets. You will also receive a weekly allowance of £55.00 to assist with your travel and subsistence.

If this opportunity sounds like something you want to part of, it is essential that you can answer yes to all of these to be considered:

- I am articulate, well-presented and love meeting and talking to people
- I am blessed with a natural curiosity and am confident with an outgoing personality
- I am self-motivated, tenacious and know when to use my own initiative
- I am an excellent communicator with strong influencing skills
- I am able to assimilate information quickly
- I am organised and capable of managing my own time
- I am tech-savvy and confident using a tablet and communication apps like WhatsApp
- I am available to attend an interview on 17th March at an assessment centre in London
- I am available to work Monday-Friday for 8 hours a day from Monday 23rd March until Friday 8th May 2020
- I am self-employed with a UTR Unique Taxpayer Reference

If you speak an additional language that would be amazing and experience in sales promotion would be an advantage, although full training will be given.

If this sounds like you then we need you on our team! And.....there will be a number of opportunities for successful candidates to continue working with us after the initial 6-week period.

Instructions for video

Please record a 3-minute video.

Briefly introduce yourself, your name and where you live, tell us a bit about who you are. We'd also love to know what your favourite brand is and why, and who inspires you in life and why.

We're not looking for an award-winning Cannes film festival piece. A simple video recorded from your phone will do. We would love to get to know you better and while we enjoy reading all about your work history, we're interested in seeing your style of communication and meeting you in person!

The timescales of the project mean it's challenging for us to schedule in the number of interviews we need to, so this is a simple and quick way for us to meet you before the next stage.

We want your authentic self and are not looking for a polished presentation. Please talk as if you were chatting to one person. Good Luck.

Please save the video file as an MP4 file using your name and London e.g. JohnSmithLONDON.mp4

Please email the video to jobs@transactionfocus.com with your name and LONDON in the subject line.

If you find you can't email your video file from your email address

please use Mail Big File (or a similar system) instead. It's free and easy to use.
